

Register Today!

Closing the Economic Gap: Investing in America's Communities

June 16, 2000

Sheraton New York Hotel & Towers
811 Seventh Avenue
New York, NY

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development is committed to mobilizing resources for the economic advancement of distressed urban communities working in partnership with its public, private, faith-based, and nonprofit partners. This conference will focus on effective strategies, tools, and resources for successful local economic development. The conference will take a close, critical look at existing and new HUD programs and discuss how they can be packaged to stimulate private investment in low-income communities.

Topics

- Linking Residents to Opportunities
- Bridging the Digital Divide
- Leveraging Public Investment and Private $$$$
- Building Capacity Through Community Partnerships
- Developing Safe and Livable Communities

Call Community Connections at (800) 998-9999 or check out the Community Connections Web site at www.comcon.org for more information regarding registration. For more information on HUD grants and programs visit HUD's Web site at www.hud.gov.

Andrew Cuomo, Secretary
U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development

Fax The registration deadline for this free conference is June 5, 2000, so fax this registration form today to Janice London, Aspen Systems Corporation, 1-301-519-5161. One registration form per person please.

Your Name _____ Organization _____
Address _____

Registration City _____ State _____ Zip _____ Email _____
Phone _____ Fax _____

Today! Special Needs: Check here or call 1-800-998-9999 or (TDD) 1-800-483-2209.
 Hearing Impaired Wheelchair Other _____

Hotel: Reservations can be made with the Sheraton New York Hotel & Towers by calling 1-800-223-6550. Be sure to mention the "HUD Economic Development Block" for reduced rates. The reservation deadline at the hotel is June 1, 2000.