I am enclosing herewith a draft copy of the Ad Hoc response to the HEW Report which I discussed with you briefly on Tuesday. This is a lengthy document which is designed to provide answers to the HEW Report and to be used by us in preparation for anticipated later hearings. It has a Table of Contents for ready reference, and in the text you will note that reference is made to the appendices. The appendices are bulky and are not being forwarded at this time. The document is also being annotated and footnoted. From this document, a briefer more pointed reply could be written if it ever became necessary or desirable. For our present use, we considered that it was more important to make the paper very complete to be used as reference material.

This enclosure is the work of Alex Holtzman, Bill Shinn, Frank Decker, Don Hoel and Kevin Carroll. I consider it to be an excellent job for the purpose and, like their work on the FTC reply, should be considered "must" reading by all of us. It may well be that by reading this reply and the FTC reply some of you may have thoughts for uses of the material which have not yet been considered.

Yours very truly,
David R. Hardy
