

Spokesman

AIR INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

Vol. 38, No. 3

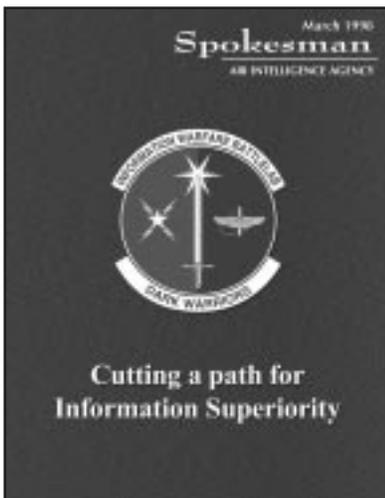

March 1998

Brig. Gen. James E. Miller
AIA Commander

Capt. Amber Cargile
Director of Public Affairs

Staff Sgt. Kimberley Young
Editor

Airman 1st Class Jennifer Gregoire
Assistant Editor

This month's cover story, "IW Battlelab's first year," by Staff Sgt. Kimberley Young discusses the progress of the IW Battlelab and where it is headed into the future.

The IW Battlelab solicits ideas from a variety of sources including other Air Force agencies and industry to find new ideas using available technology that has operational impact.

The IW Battlelab team uses this new mission area to advance Information Superiority.

Front and back cover illustrations by John Rice, visual information specialist.

Next month: Det. 4, 67th IG

Page 9
cover story

around the command 4

- 488th IS recognized for expertise, vigilance and professionalism*
- Internship programs await*
- 497th IG Intelligence Systems Directorate hosts first Open House*
- Take advantage of the CCAF*
- Short duty now counts for overseas credit*

Air Force news 8

- Video-teleconferencing to bring deployed airmen closer to families*
- Tour lengths shorten for Panama units*
- Next AECP board to meet in June*
- Pay hoax circulates through Air Force*

cover story 9

IW Battlelab's first steps

features 12

- Planes...Who needs them to fly?*
- Playing with FIRE*

family news 15

Street Gangs

AIA 50th Anniversary 17

Gerald Ford and American Intelligence

salutes 18

Medals, awards, arrivals, retirements and promotions